Employee Spotlight of the Month

This month we recognize Joey Ty, a dedicated certified caregiver who brings warmth, compassion, and a deep sense of purpose to the residents he serves. Originally from Nueva Ecija, a town in the northern part of the Philippines, he discovered his love for caregiving through meaningful conversations and connections with older adults. He takes great pride in his work, finding joy in knowing that he can make his residents happy each day through kindness, patience, and laughter. One of his most memorable moments in caregiving came years ago while working at a care home. When he announced he was leaving for another opportunity to work in Alaska, the residents and staff became emotional, expressing how much he meant to them. "That day, I truly felt their love," he recalls fondly.

Joey is a proud father of two—one a licensed engineer and the other a licensed architect—he beams when speaking about their success. Looking ahead, he envisions returning to the Philippines for retirement, where he hopes to continue serving his community, drawing from his past experience as a politician. With an interest in business, the stock market, and helping those truly in need, he continues to live with purpose and heart.

Appreciating the "Joy" In Family & Friends

Growing up in Casa Grande, Joy Gail fondly remembers playing in the desert behind her house with the neighborhood kids and building forts with her siblings. Joy shares that her father, part Shoshone in heritage, was a hardworking man devoted to family and church, who once built a 17-foot boat by hand, that the family used for water-skiing trips to Canyon Lake. Joy still treasures those memories and credits her father as her greatest influence. As a young woman, Joy loved The Wizard of Oz and her first job was at Bob's Busy Boy Drive-In, where she had fun flipping burgers and making milkshakes. The happiest day of her life came when she married her husband, Ronnie, whom she met while running her shop, Something Special.

Now at The Villas, Joy takes pleasure in attending exercise classes, coffee and donuts, and celebrating Christmas with her neighbors. She finds the most delight in visits from her husband and family, and she is proud of her perseverance through life's challenges. Joy's best advice to others is, "Don't wait to do the things you love."
